

Alberta Energy Minister Leads Delegation to U.S. Council

Promoting Alberta's responsible, resourceful approach to energy development was Energy Minister Mel Knight's focus when he lead Alberta's delegation to the 2008 annual meeting of the Energy Council. The meeting, held in Oklahoma City from September 25 to 28 included energy representatives from Canada and the United States.

The meeting addressed emerging energy issues including commercialization of bio-fuels, areas where energy and agriculture conflict for land use, as well as advances in enhanced oil and gas recovery and new coal-fired electricity generation technology.

"Alberta is a leader in committing substantial resources towards the development of traditional and new energy sources," said Knight. "In a global context, we can make an even larger contribution to responsible energy development by sharing what we have learned and promoting the new technologies our research and industries are developing."

The Energy Council is a legislative organization of 11 energy-producing U.S. states, along with international affiliates. Canadian jurisdictions represented include British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Newfoundland and Labrador and Nova Scotia. Alberta became the first international affiliate of the Energy Council in 1991.

Knight's parliamentary assistant, Len Webber and Richard Marz, MLA for Olds-Didsbury-Three Hills also attended the meeting. Webber is preparing recommendations for the minister on a made-in-Alberta Renewable Fuel Standard, while Marz has worked with rural communities and Olds Community College to encourage development of Alberta's bio-fuel industry. The estimated cost of the trip is approximately $6,000.
